W.Z. Watch: The All You Need Is Kill Trailer Watch: The All You Need Is Kill Trailer All You Need Is Kill is an upcoming action movie directed by Doug Liman and written by Christopher Sparling. The official theatrical release date is this October, but you can watch the new trailer now. I quite enjoyed the trailer and it's got a lot of great blood, explosions, and guns. I'm really looking forward to watching this, and even more when it's released on October 17th. I'm a freelance writer, editor, and translator from Seattle, WA. My main interests are horror, weird, crime, and weird crime fiction. I also love music and can often be found listening to my iTunes while writing. On good days, I'm a lover of puns. I have a container that moves and re-sizes itself using a background image, and is ultimately going to be placed inside an . The problem is that the width of the iframe changes as the user resizes the page (whilst maintaining a consistent ratio). The objective is to get a jQuery selector to select the correct part of the CSS that represents the container. The actual scenario is more complex and involves a tooltip (that appears and disappears on-mouseover, but that's a nipper :)), and I'll simplify for the sake of the question. My problem is that when a tooltip is to be displayed, the container has to be positioned absolutely. The container is a div with a width and a background image. If the width of the iframe is different to the width of the main browser window, the container div is slightly outside of the iframe. I need to shift the container in the correct direction, because the tooltip will be displayed and the width of the iframe is a different size to the width of the page. Some sample code to illustrate what I mean:

Q: Is it possible to call onPressed of a background button if i use a Viewpager inside a NestedScrollView? My problem is I am using a NestedScrollView and inside it I have a ViewPager. I want to use a button which is located on the bottom of the screen in the background without pushing any item of the ViewPager to the bottom. I want to use it only when the user presses this button. I want to use it on onPressed, but the problem is when I place it inside the NestedScrollView. I used onPressed, but it pushes my buttons all the time! activity_main.xml
